The Best of Holland

Waterland is a region in the Dutch province of North Holland. It is a low-lying peat meadow area intersected by many ditches and canals.

The subsoil originally consisted of peat on top of deposits deposited by the sea. Due to flooding from the Zuiderzee, a layer of clay was added later.

Etten-leur is a village in the province of North Brabant. Etten-Leur is centrally located between Rotterdam and Antwerp and close to Breda Etten-Leur was called Etten en Leur until 1968. The ribbon villages of Etten and Leur were the only residential areas in this municipality. Around 1968 the villages had grown together.

The Rijk van Nijmegen is a region in the southeast of Gelderland. The region is located around the city of Nijmegen, south of the Waal and east of the Land van Maas en Waal.

The area owes its name to the area that in earlier centuries belonged to the free imperial city of Nijmegen. In addition to Nijmegen itself, the region includes the municipalities of Beuningen, Berg en Dal, Heumen and Wijchen.
